WE SOLVE BUSINESS PROBLEMS

Every business leader needs someone to ask the question, "Have you thought about this?"

CONSULTING

What's changing your business the most? Probably speed—of almost everything. Our focused expertise gets fast and credible results for our clients. People are often blamed for inefficiency and ineffective work when the cause of problems is due to poor work processes, and lack of expert project management. Did you know an average business process contains 80 percent of "non-value-added" activity? We create and implement efficiencies in process; we manage critical projects and build to sustain any changes we create; we create change navigators, not change casualties. We can help you execute a well-defined strategy or help you discover the unknown as we push you toward your new future. We promise to bring you innovation, perspective and real-world insights to your complex business problems.

RECRUITING + STAFFING

The speed of change means our businesses are moving faster, while time and resources are limited. High-quality people drive business success, and we help identify and tackle the recruitment burden to meet your business goals. Constantly mining for talent, we're experts in matching people's skills and experience to your specific needs. We focus on the relationship and get to know you – your business and your culture – so we can find high-quality candidates who fit from day one. Contract, contract-to-hire, or direct hire—we only present the best: candidates who are leaders, experienced, credentialed and solution-focused. Through our extensive screening and interview process, we'll find you the best of the high-achievers. And we stay by your side all along the way.

PAYROLLING

Evolving businesses can cause new cycles and unpredictable, ever-changing human resource needs. We save you time and stress with our payrolling service by managing your contractors for you. If you're using a large number of indirect employees, including temporary workers, interns, seasonal help or other part-timers, managing the classification of these employees can become cumbersome. By allowing AG to act as the employee of record, you not only reduce your administrative burden but also save money.

Proud to be a certified WBE, AG's overarching philosophy is to deliver on our promises to our clients, our associates and our community. We know our success relies on delivering results for you.
